Funeral Directing Costs

Your personal funeral director

£995

At Memorial Woodlands we pride ourselves on providing every family with one point of contact, who not only arranges but also directs the funeral. We ensure you have the time, space and privacy to design exactly the right funeral for your loved one.

Before the day your funeral director will:

- meet with you to provide you all support, guidance and advice you wish, including completion of all necessary documentation;
- liaise with all third parties including doctors, hospitals, hospices and homes, coroners, crematoria, cemeteries and celebrants or ministers;
- arrange notices, flowers and organise orders of service;
- arrange any viewings you request.

On the day of the funeral your funeral director will:

- organise the hearse and all necessary staff, fulfilling your requests and any special requirements;
- manage the music, pall bearers, floral tributes and any other services you have requested.

Services provided to your loved one

£1295

- Your personal funeral director will organise for your loved one to be brought into our care as soon as possible.
- Following your wishes, we will care, prepare and dress the deceased for the funeral and any viewings you request.
- We will provide a hearse for the coffin to be transported and escort the deceased to the location(s) of the service(s) and committal.

Chapel and reception rooms

We offer morning, afternoon, or all-day services, giving friends and families the time, space and privacy to celebrate a life without being hurried. Choosing to use the beautiful Georgian chapel and adjacent reception rooms, which sit within a beautiful private garden with a tranquil pond, gives you the opportunity to say goodbye in your own way; you have use of the buildings for as long as you need. We can provide guests with refreshments, or you can provide your own. Whether the deceased will be buried or cremated we can hold the appropriate funeral service(s) in any denomination or belief.
